Cornell faculty and graduate instructors have ready access to the SPIF collection of planetary images, press release pictures, videos, globes, spacecraft models, etc.

Workshops and field trips for K-12 teachers have provided and will continue to provide information about current missions, making educational materials available for use in the classroom.

SPIF is annually visited by classes from the surrounding community, where they are presented with and take part in discussions of planetary images.
For group visits, we request that you schedule visits in advance. Please call (607)255-3833 or e-mail Rick Kline, SPIF Data Manager, for scheduling.
